

Insure your Colorado Outward Bound School Expedition

Let us help you protect your investment. We partner with InsureMyTrip to offer students an option that will help protect your investment from a variety of disruptions. Together, Outward Bound and InsureMyTrip are here to help you plan and prepare!

TRIP AND TUITION RELATED INSURANCE

Airfare, related travel costs, and non-refundable tuition payments are expensive. Insurance to protect your trip and course is not required but strongly recommended. If you choose not to purchase insurance and cancel your course or leave your course early you will be held to the terms of our Admission and Cancellation Policies.

Outward Bound offers an option for insuring these costs from the third-party provider InsureMyTrip through its Academic Explorer Program. This program has coverage options that include your travel costs and the non-refundable tuition costs. A link to that program's insurance coverage options is below. Alternatively, you may choose to purchase trip related insurance through a different insurance provider. In either case, the amount and type of coverage you choose is your responsibility and must be discussed directly with the provider.

EMERGENCY EVACUATION INSURANCE

You may also want to consider insurance for the cost of emergency evacuation. Health insurance often does not cover the cost of emergency evacuation by air or other means and these costs can be very expensive. Colorado Outward Bound School will not be financially responsible for these costs in the event that your student requires evacuation.

The Academic Explorer Program offered through InsureMyTrip does not offer coverage for emergency evacuation. You will need to purchase that coverage from a different insurance provider. If you need advice on choosing an emergency evacuation insurance provider, we recommend contacting local travel advisor, Donna Evans, who can be contacted at gyraff@comcast.net or 303-400-0852.

Outward Bound makes no representations or warranties about these insurance options or how they handle claims.
